Katie (Edwina's sister) - Who cares about a gold medal in trigonometry anyway?! I'm never doing another math equation as long as I live. You see, we were getting ready for the multiplication trials, and Sally Farnsworth was sitting next to me. And next to her was Mary Kay Hooper. She and Sally became super best friends for the week. And as we finished our equations, I happened to finish first. And I brought my answers to the judge, and everybody clapped! And then all of the sudden Sally whispered, "I hate that girl Kate! She thinks she's so great!"

What talent! What passion! What a range! Scott, you'll be just perfect to sing the National Anthem at the opening ceremonies! And we have a new group in from Montreal. Advice du Soleil! They all stand on each other's heads... it's fabulous! Of course Jennifer Lopez will back you up on the National Anthem...
